

until the end of the month ting are being made nevertheless, and sooner or later the social devotee is water fills up the wonderful channelcentury-that bookings on the steam-The climate of Panama demands the flimsiest of apparel. Addhumidity than one feels on the most and what one requires for the Panama trip is white raiment—and a A crushed girdle of changeable blue be worn more than once or twice without a visit to the laundress.

others because of the rest and tonic in color-a new note in machine emto jaded nerves resulting from the brolderies and a very beautiful one, tainable in th "Blessed Isles" as they brolderies in hellotrope and pale blue have been called by tired out folk who on the sheer volle ground and there went there for recuperation. At her- is a sash of heliotrope and rose shot muda one requires an outfit such as taffets with a flat bow across the back would be needed for a tolerably cool and two rather short ends falling. summer in the North-linen freeks, one over the other, summer in the North-liner recess, one over the other. This frock has a serge or flannel Norfolk sult, outing two flatly applied flounces and a togs, a few thin dresses and some draped surplies hodice opening at evening gowns, simple or elaborate as front and back over V shaped vests one pleases. Those who sail away for of filet lace. evening gowns, simple of elaborate as front and back over V shaped vests one pleases. Those who sail away for the littlera, will supply themselves with smart and warm sea-tegs and more or less elaborate finery according to their plans. The trip up the Nile will require one sort of raiment; white she warm of lashon, the walk of filet lace. The costume from Hallee is intended staples thereof are correctly in keeping with current modes, that her houst of every fushionably gowned woman is much the same. A skirt lar or large fur neckpiece.

This veil is smartly adjusted woman is much the same. A skirt lar or large fur neckpiece.

This brings one to the fact for low of the hour, a 4 so on.

At the present moment, the will white shedned yeights the correctly in any with the same and utility beat of file lace.

The hour, a 4 so on.

At the present moment, the will have being repeated in a white shedned of every fushionably gowned woman is much the same. A skirt lar or large fur neckpiece.

This veil is smartly adjusted the hour, a 4 so on.

At the present moment, the sill-hour of the hour, a 4 so on.

At the present moment, the sill-hour of every fushionably gowned woman is much the same and utility beat of stapped of the hour, a 4 so on.

At the present moment, the will be the general triple of every fushionably gowned the stapped of every fushionably gowned to the hour of the hour, a 4 so on.

At the present moment, the sill-hour of the hour, a 4 so on.

At the present moment, the sill-hour of the hour of the hour, a 4 so on.

At the present moment, the sill-hour of the hour of file leace, the hour of the hour Monaco quite another.

the round of social galeties is taken hand of Cothert embroidery.

for embroideries have come into their double-edged galloon;

If the Northern season is particularly tume called to mind by the idea of of the net and bands of the galloon are at all suggest the jounne fille cos- accordion pleated net. The bodice is gay—and the opera particularly inter-esting; but preparations for the flithandings. Four embroidery trimmed the line of the tunic. dresses have been sent over from of shirred net have closely set crystal whisked Southward on a train de live, or carried there more slowly by of these pretty dresses are from Lanvinn who excels in lingeric models; throat to foot. The sash is of rese Everybody is in such a fever, now, one is from Jeanne Hallee and the colored satin and a hat trimmed with to see the Panama Canal before the fourth halls from Talbot. The Lanongineering feat of the bookings on the stame one White Tailored Wear for the Southcolor in its make-up. The white frock ers are all taken up for weeks to has a tunic of allover evolet embroidery dropped over a petticoat of shadow ed to the intense heat there is a worse to back, but from the right hip to the left knee. The bedice is a surmuggy" summer day in New York, plice drapery of the allover embroidery over elbow sleeves of shadow lace.

of it, for seldom may a frock and green taffeta divides the tunic. sheer white conton voile flouncing with on the Riviera. White tailored frocks the sleeves. The Bermuda trip attracts many an embroidered border pattern done toyage and the absolute quiet ob- too. The Lanvinn frock shows emsightseeing along the Mediterranean all former sectorial traditions because terials; that her wardrobe is suitably coats are not worn in the afternoon weemen now wears a boutonniere of another, and a prolonged stay at of their heavy and distinction. This planned for the requirements of her hour on Fifth Avenue unless one is in one sort or another and the tinier the Halles gown has a draped tunic of flowered net over a clinging skirt of flowered net over a clinging skirt of have exactly the proper sort of ac-stroll on the payement wear costs. f America and thither the fashion- white satin, the crossed-over front of dessories to give the mainstays of her suits of livet, of woodbacked satin, ables repair after the nerve-exhaust- the tunic being bordered obliquely from costume the final touch of modish- of cordurey or of some very slikying winter season and there, again, wabdline to end of train with a broad ness with small belongings up-to-the- surfaced worsted fabric, The moment in character. up with new zest because of the bodies is made of this embroidery The New York woman who dresses have change of background and the exhil- mounted on white tuile and blouses well studies first the new fashions as the for embroideries have come into their double-edged galloon; mechin lace the sum total of smartness, she re-own and are lavishly used as trim-being applied flatly under the edge of mings for exclusive contumes. The the galloon at both sides. This tunic, caught in the fashionable restaurants pointed fox, skunk, red fox, chinchilla new embroideries are patterned after of white net, bordered with galloon, and on Fifth Avenue, the promenade squirrel, moleskin, or opossum may be

Embroidery a Feature of Lingerie Frocks.

Went studies first the new tashions as the boots shown in the boot Lace must take second place as a The Talbet frock has also a tunic but for her accessories—the little may have a fanciful cut—the belied trimming for summer frocks this year, edged with embroidery banding or things that count so enormously in Russian blouse coat is belief oold, open-patterned laces of the Ital- opens widely in front over a skirt of of the elect, where any fine after- worn with the graceful suit, or there noon may be observed scores of well may be simply a little turned down dressed women whose costumes cover collar of fur with a big, soft must to gamut of correctness, from well match. It will be the exceptional appointed shopping raiment to the woman who does not carry a most elaborate carriage tollettes. The Very few mannish gloves of kid in out-of-town woman, living near New the reddish brown shades will be ob-York also comes into town to study served, though one may see white the authoritative modes of Fifth Ave-nue. Her morning is spent in the washable white doeskin and black shops. She lunches at a smart res-taurant. Afterward perhaps comes a white. matinee, and later, tea at one of the The hat will undoubtedly be small; luxurious tea places where fashion for though large hats are worn this colored satin and a hat trimmed with land.

The hat will undoubtedly be smallcongregates; and after that a stroll up winter, they are not worn with the or down the Avenue with the throng promenade costume as a rule, the of other folk who promenade at this small, even very small, type of hat hour. In twenty minutes, at the just- being considered much more chic before-dusk period one may note and an ostrich plume, or perhaps two everything that is new in neckwear, will curl over almost every hat-brim. latest fashion of tying the at one side. Over the small, chie what is worn in the way of will be draped a face veil of the boutonnieres, the sort of furs affected fashionable shadew or shelland mesh by devotees of the mode, the hoots and gloves affected by those whose some very smart looking women who Than Big Fur Neckpieces.

will undoubtedly be draped-and will boots showing beneath being

The New York woman who dresses have a clinging effect around the feet.

HE woman who goes about her costumes are kept in line with the gain for black and white a good deal wardrobe - provision systemat- moment's whim of fashion, the walk are wearing small black velvet hats

Tulle Hat Frills Becomingly

Shade the Face

fashionable and are having a tremendous vogue as fur boutonnieresthat is, finy nosegays pinned against the fur of collar, neckpiece or muff; but these who dislike so brilliant a color, wear nesegays of small yellow flowers, of pink English marguerites, of mignonette or of old fashioned he-hotrope. Violets are seen in the real white wings matches the frock. The parasol is of tucked white silk with a violet stained handle. The buttoned boots are of dull calf with suede tops son, in pale gray plor. Picturesque Headgear a Harbinger of Spring. The Southland hats are enchanting. For the most part they have the alry grace and broad lines that have been denied in the chic, but small hats of the winter season. Two typical Palm Beach hat types are pictured; one the big black hat with a pleated frill of black tulle extending beyond the brim. and the other, the charming hat which accompanies the lingeric dress of em-broidery and lace. This hat is of pale pink satin straw faced under the brim with palest pastel violet satin. Around the low crown is a wreath of pale pink and violet roses, back having ends which are brought under the brim as shown in the pic-

Another charming hat is shown Every woman who goes to Paim Beach or Alken for a prolonged stay should have with her a well cut, not too formal trotabout tailleur which will be about the most asset). They have very slightly draped to long-sleeved bodies scalloped facket over a draped skirt will be about the most asset). will be about the most useful item under satin girdles or smart white of contrasting silk. The jaunty little of her wardrobe. This suit may be suede belts. A very open Robespierre coat is made of violet taffeta, the skirt The blue of the hat harmonizes with to stain an ordinary tan boot. piped with the striped material on the Paris. Whether Paris has become top.

bias. Flounces and ruffles are to be much used on next summer's skirts, if the clothes now being made up for scheme is deemed advisable, one canthe Southland are true prophets. The not say, but at any rate, almost no trimmings of bias pipings are a fetching note of the violet silk jacket and out for Southern wear. Erown is exone must not pass by the new box-pleated sleeve effect, nor the grace-ful fichu drapery of lace. A white tones are a fad; and blues are seen straw turban faced with pale violet in tapestry, gendarme and Wedge-velvet and trimmed with purple and wood tints; but the serviceable, becoming, admirable navy is for the moment under the ban and must bide its time until a more propitious sea-

Gorgeous Evening Gowns for the Ponciana Ball Room.

A new note in evening gown : is the use of accordion pleating. gowns just completed for Palm Beach wear show draped tuni - of gold lace or bend-embroidered ne. skirts of accordion pleased chiffon satin or creps. Much gold lace b used, and yards of crystal and rhinestone trimming make the gowns o simplest cut distinguished and bril liant. The evening costume picture has a tunic of gold lace over peaci. pink charmeuse. The lace drapery is drawn over a belero of mauve satir on the hodice and tiny pink satin ross decorate hodice and sieeve. The Or bow of black velvet ribbon at the ental cap of jeweled latticed bands ing caps are the rage, and are fashture, the two ends apparently meer toned of jeweled act, bead embroidered ing under a pink rose from whence and lace, and pearl-sewn silver drop long streamers of the black velant grant and gold net. The cap pictured has an apparently of the shore of a pink ostrich plume.

with the evening wrap of silk and lace designed for wear at Palm Beach. A bathing suit for delightful mid-The wrap is a modishly draped affair winter bathing in the balmy Southerr of night blue crepe de chine with a waters, and suitable outing togs for flatly applied flounce of black chan- other sports are an important part tilly sewn with stael beads. The drap- of the Southland outfit. The girl who ery of black lace at sleeve-edge and rides will be sure to take with her shoulder, falls over a drapery of nar- a cross-saddle habit, very smart in The wrap is un- levery detail. A riding habit of this sort lined and is very soft and clinging in just sent home, has a knee-length effect, the satin band at the foot giv- covert coat with riding breeches to ing it sufficient weight. With this ad- match and a loose white silk riding mirable summer-weight wrap goes a picture hat of blue satin straw trimmed with blue velvet ribbon and small, not become stained when wet—an exold-pink roses. The crown is of heavy cellent leather for horseback use since macrime lace, laid over old-pink satin. | the moisture of the horse's flesh is apt made of lightweight serge, of mohair collar of white satin finishes the neck being of white and violet striped fou-or of the worsted and mohair, which and there are flat buttons of white lard. This skirt is slightly draped at wrap, both having a slightly greenand green taffeta divides the tunic. French couturiers make much use of pearl, or ball buttons of the creamy the back and is edged with a boxish tone. Pure navy shades are not in the smart new English style with
The second Lanvinn frock is of for gowns and coat suits to be worn Roman pearl on the bodice front and pleated ruille of the violet taffets

The white silk shetland veil pictured is of a type liked for cold, blustery days, for these veils as well as being fascinatingly becoming, are very warm. The veil in question has a "beauty spot" of black velvet which and white shedland veils, the touch of comes at one corner of the mouth and over the small toque of gold lace, the paradise aigret at the side sweeping and the woman who dresses well has downward at a particularly smart a dozen pairs at least, for day and than of yore and the leather bag English last, with long lines and very handsomely mounted is now smarter low licels and buttoned tops only than the reticule of fanciful material five inches high. In the afternoons slung from cords-for afternoon use black boots are worn. at least. Illustrated, is a new bag of tion sho: a typical street walking red saffian leather with a hardle boot with buttoned cloth top, two which is strapped to the wrist—an admirable arrangement these days of white suede for wear in the evenhold-ups and handbag-snatching on ing with light gowns,

The Handbag That Cannot Be Grabbed smartness. By a Thug.

The Beauty-Spot Veil Is Audaciou But Chic. dark street corners.

The small, closely fitting collarette of fur or estrich is very chic just now and gives the final touch of correctness to an afternoon costume With such a collarette, the tailored coat fastens closely up at the throat and when the coat is removed in theater or restaurant the collarette is retained for the sake of its

Boots are an important item of the costume, these days of clinging skirts, angle and not bein; confined under evening wear. In the morning, on the closely drawn veil, Fifth Avenue, one notes tan boots— Handbags are smaller and daintier very smartly cut boots on the new

Footwear For Day And Evening.